Invitation

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

we are happy to announce that we are ready to invite you to participate at the V. European Conference in Berlin in August 2021.

At this point of time we encourage you to only pre-register for the Conference. This way we can avoid the extra work of having to re-transmit your money transfer in case the Conference has to be turned into an online-event, instead of remaining an on-site event.

We will re-evaluate the global situation of the Pandemic restrictions in April and decide on the conference format.

We remain optimistic and look forward to meet you in person for an exciting Conference in Berlin,

Best regards

Program committee

Regina Renn, Germany

Annette Berthold-Brecht, Germany

Shmuel Bernstein, Israel

Grazina Gudaite, Lithuania

Information about the DGAP

What is the DGAP?

The DGAP is the German society for Analytical Psychology, a non-profit and registered association which, as a professional society, brings together analytical and deep psychological adult and child and adolescent psychotherapists in Germany who work on the basis of CG Jung's analytical psychology .

Who can become a member?

Full members are analytical and deep psychological adult and child and adolescent psychotherapists who have completed their training at a training institute that is recognized by the DGAP. Non-Jungian psychotherapists who are interested in C. G. Jungs analytical psychology and its further developments and who are looking for a professional approach can become affiliated members.

How can I become a member?
